

Disclaimers

*No commercial intent. This project is entirely non-commercial. It was built as a personal learning project. I am not monetizing it, running ads, or charging for access. Ever.

*Educational purposes only. All cooking content in the curriculum is for general educational reference. It is not professional culinary advice. Always use common sense in the kitchen, especially when handling heat, sharp tools, and allergens.

*No affiliation. ChefPath is not affiliated with, endorsed by, or connected to any cooking school, culinary brand, restaurant, or media company.

*Food safety. Always follow food safety guidelines from a trusted authority (e.g. your local health department). When in doubt about whether food is safe to eat — throw it out.

*Allergies and dietary needs. The platform does not account for individual allergies, dietary restrictions, or medical conditions. Always check ingredients yourself.

*No offence intended. Recipes, techniques, and cuisines from around the world are presented with genuine curiosity and respect. If any content feels misrepresented or disrespectful to a culinary tradition, please open an issue — I genuinely want to get it right.

*Use at your own risk. Cooking involves heat, sharp objects, and raw ingredients. Neither the author nor this platform is responsible for any accidents, injuries, or food disasters that occur.

Contributing

This is a personal project, but if you spot a bug, a factual error in the curriculum, or have a suggestion — feel free to open an issue or a pull request. I'm learning too.

License

This project is open source. Feel free to fork it and build your own version. Just don't sell it.

Made with curiosity, and the genuine desire to one day cook a proper meal or help someone to do so — by a 20-year-old who is still figuring it out. 🍲